

BUILDING ON THE FACE OF MARS

The next. Who can tell? But what the Martians are doing in an astronomical way, we do not know; but what they are doing in the matter of reclaiming what corresponds in Maritan language to "the Great American Desert," we do know. Nothing is given out about it at Flagstaff, however, for that is only where they study these things and make maps. Boston is where it is all given out. Dr. Percival Lowell, who knows all about the stars and planets and milky ways and great things, is the man who does the talking.

What Dr. Lowell Says.
Dr. Lowell says the observations at Flagstaff have proved beyond a doubt that there is life on Mars.
"Animate will" is the term Dr. Lowell applies to the force which is bringing about a remarkable phenomenon on the planet.

In the popular way of reporting what Dr. Lowell has discovered the inhabitants of Mars are building a new system of canals from a known point to a new oasis. Dr. Lowell says he is watching them grow.

"New canals on Mars in the first sense," said the speaker, "though always interesting and at times highly important, are no novelty at this observatory, inasmuch as at least 400 have been discovered here in the past 15 years."

New Canals.
"When Schiaparelli left his great work he had mapped 117 canals, with those detected at Flagstaff the number has risen to between five and six hundred."

"To observe, however, a canal new in the sense that it had never existed anteriorly and to prove the fact is an astronomical detection of a different order and one the significance of which speaks for itself. This is what has happened at the last opposition, at Flagstaff."

"On September 20, 1909, when the region of the Syrtis Major came into view again after its periodic hiding of six weeks, two striking canals were evident in the east of the Syrtis in places where no canals had ever previously been seen. Not only was their appearance unprecedented but the canals themselves were the most conspicuous ones on that part of the disc."

The New Canals.
"The new canals ran from the bottom of the Syrtis Major and from a point on its eastern side south converging to an oasis, itself new, on the Coeetus about two-thirds of the distance to where that canal meets the Amenites. The Amenites itself was not visible except possibly as a suspicion. The new canals were recorded in independent drawings by assistant E. C. Sipher and the director, and shortly afterward were photographed in the most conspicuous canals in the images."

"Subsequently examinations of the records showed that Mr. Sipher had drawn one of them the day before but not a trace of them was to be found in the drawings of August, July, June or May. That they were indeed new was then conclusively established by examination of the records of previous years."

"The records of the observatory go back to 1894. Not had any observer previous to 1894 recorded them. Schiaparelli had never seen them, nor had his predecessors or successors. This determined definitely that no human eye had ever looked at them before."

Canals All Modern.
The speaker took up the question of whether the canals might not have been there all the time, but unseen.

"This may be answered definitely in the negative," he said, "when it is realized that a canal of such size, while it might not have been visible elsewhere on account of the character of the air, the improved instrumental means and the long experience of the observers, could not have escaped the director's assistance."

The next point considered by the speaker was whether the canals could be due to the annual seasonal change which affects all the features of the planet.

"How can the observed phenomena," continued Dr. Lowell, "be due to an other cause, which we have found operative on the planet—the special polar association of particular canals? There are canals which are quickened solely from the melting of the north polar cap, such as the Tharsis and others like the Ulysses, which are beholden only to the southern one. But the present canals are not of that category, for they did not appear in past Martian years, which had they been so conditioned, they would have done so."

"The records are decisive on the point. They do not belong to the class of unhemispheric seasonal canals, for the records of Flagstaff covering the seven or eight years needed to establish the fact are able to give an absolute verdict."

The great furniture sale will soon begin at Spriggs's. Watch for announcement.

CROWD SHIVERS IN THE COLD AT JUAREZ

The Bookmakers Forced From Their Pens—Poor
Day for Favorites.

Col. Lane, the weather man, headed the race meeting across the river on the other side of the border. It was so cold at the track that even the bookmakers, who are conceded to be the coldest blooded crowd alive, had to forsake their deerskin pen for the enclosed space under the grand stand, where the bar is located. The wind whipped around the tomb like grand stand and chased what few horsemen's wives there were present back behind the glass partition at the back of the stand where the fire places furnished sufficient heat to keep anyone from suffering. It was the coldest and most disagreeable day since the famous Friday snowstorm, and today is a duplicate of yesterday, with the wind a trifle tamer.

It was easy pickings for the bookies Wednesday. Not a favorite finished first in the six races and the boys cleaned up a nice little bank roll each from the regulars who would go through fire to play their choice. Tipster, a 20 to 1 shot, finished first in the first race with practically no play on him. C. W. Kennon, a new horse at the meeting, went to the post a strong favorite but was never in the running at the finish.

FROM BELL HOP
TO CRACK JOCKEY

Eddie Dugan May Come to The Juarez Races Next Season.

From an A. D. T. kid to one of the leading jockeys of the soft dirt track is a big jump for a 90 pound boy to make. That is what Eddie Dugan, who is now riding at Emeryville, but may come to the Juarez track next year, has done. Hopping messenger calls at $5 a week and perquisites, Eddie got on with one of the trainers at Oakland and his earnings as a premier jockey are said to total over $100,000.

Dugan was just a kid as kids go when he was hustling around Oakland with messages to deliver and a living to make. His parents wanted him to go to school, but Eddie just could not see the school room for the dust of the running track. He struck "Babe" O'Connor for a job breeding colts and got it. He had a fine line of thick talk, thanks to his varied and various experiences as A. D. T. messenger, and he convinced the "Babe" that he had the necessary sand in his craw to make a jockey. He was allowed to gallop horses for his feed, slept in the stalls and hustled the morning.

Cried After First Race.
His first race was the most exciting of his long career as a rider of thoroughbreds, he says. He lost by but a nose and he was so excited that he blubbered and when he went in the scale room to weigh in. For this he got laughed at by the other jockeys but he soon began shaking his dust in their eyes at the finish of the race and they started to respect him for his prowess.

His brother was a retired jockey and he saw the little chap had the stuff in him and started in to coach him. He rode for Barney Schrieber over the western courses and made quite a hit with the man who was here for the races this winter. Sam Hill later bought the boy's contract and he has been riding for him since then. Should Hildreth decide to bring a part of his string to El Paso next year for the Juarez meeting, Eddie will be with the outfit and will do Sam's riding for him.

Likes His Work.
The secret of his success, Eddie says, has been that he liked the work.

PLAYERS RELEASED.
New York, N. Y., Jan. 6.—The New York American League has announced a cut in its playing force to the legal limit of 35. Second baseman Warner and outfielders Channell and Farrell have been released to the Memphis club of the Southern league.

BIG FIGHT CANNOT BE HELD IN UTAH.

Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 6.—Governor William Spry has put the fixings to Tex Rickard's scheme for holding the Jeffries-Johnson fight in Utah. Governor Spry says he will uphold the law which does not permit prizefights to be held in that state. This makes it almost an assured certainty that the fight will be staged in California and probably at San Francisco.

LANGFORD SIGNS.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 6.—Sam Langford has signed to fight six rounds with Jack Sullivan before the Empire Athletic club here on January 18.

The great year end sale begins at Spriggs's Monday. It will pay you to attend this great sale. It only lasts one week.

SOUTH STANTON
WILL BE PAVED

George Look Agrees to Improvement in Front of His Property.

At the meeting of the South Stanton street property owners at the court house this morning, Park Pittman announced that D. Storms had received a telegram from George Look, stating that he would sign up for the paving of the street in front of his three blocks on this street, and as other property owners had agreed to do likewise the street would be paved.

Frank Spence said: "The most important thing is to arrange for the double tracking, for without that the paving will not benefit us to any great extent. If the company does not double track this line at the present time I never will after the paving is laid, so I think it would be well to have this matter settled before the paving is started."

D. Storms has been called to Ft. Worth and Robert Silberberg to Mexico City, so the meeting today was brief.

Only a few days to wait and then you can get furniture at a big discount at the Springer year end sale.

CRIMINAL CASES SET.

District attorney W. D. Howe has set the following criminal cases for trial during the week: P. Murillo, charged with forging the name of R. G. Gonzalez to several checks; J. C. MacDonald, charged with burglarizing the Black Bros. dental office in the Mills building; and William Armstrong, charged with burglarizing the East El Paso grocery.

APPLIES FOR CITIZENSHIP.

Leonard Emig, a trained nurse at Hotel Dieu, has applied for his first citizenship papers. He was born at Gerdern, Germany, 28 years ago and has been a resident of El Paso since November 1, 1908.

MAKE WRITES OF THE JUAREZ
RACES

Contributes to Chicago Tribune
Interesting Skit on the Undertaking.

Strangely out of tune with the harmony of boasts that are being sent out by the correspondents that have gathered here for the Juarez races is a stick of stuff under the head "Uncensored Juarez Dope," which appeared in Hugh E. Keough's column of sport comment in the Chicago Tribune. The article is under a Denver date line, and is signed "Mike." Says Mike:

Denver, Colo.—Dear Mister: Evidently you have not heard the whole truth about that race track opposite El Paso. One of my side kicks just blew in from there (box car) and tells some "ridiculous tales." It appears that the rubes are wise, at least, the ones that have shown so far are. They actually refuse to plunge when some of the fraternity chalk up even on some old timer that ought to be about 29 to 1. The track is inches deep in ice, real ice, too, and it takes three hours to warm up a skate to get him off a walk. The suckers are unkind enough to make remarks about the race thoroughbreds gathered there, and they even notice the fact that the same gee goes run every day, so you can see that it is pretty bad.

The paid attendance runs about 113 per day, but there is a large gathering of the El Paso avill chorus who get in on-comp. They say that any old thing will let you through the gate, an old railroad ticket, any kind of a card, or even a street car transfer. One guy got in on a card reading "Rev. Timothy Smythe." (Timothy is sign the noble pastime and lives in El Paso.)

Any night in El Paso around the St. Regis hotel you can hear all kinds of swear words and some of the sheet writers are wearing ready made clothes and have rented furnished rooms. It's too bad to see the old game in such straits.

Even the street car conductors on the Juarez line have fun kidding the gang. One of them asked Mark Hellbron if he wouldn't seem nice to get a steak once more. Mark got awfully mad and went out on the front platform and when the motorman asked him if he had had a good day he wanted to murder him.

Just to show how glad the locals are to have the exhibition of a once great sport in their midst, "owners" are on deck coddling feed money from anybody, and boys don't eat at all. Everybody is disgusted, and if enough money ever shows to get the bunch out they will have to add about 40 day coaches to the Rock Island train that departs every 24 hours for civilization.

Even one wants to know how the weather is up around Toronto and Montreal, the only two spots left on earth where they still bite freely. Yours, Mike.

CAR AND HOSE
WAGON COLLIDE

Horse and Two Men Are Injured—Similar to Accident of a Year Ago.

While making a run to answer a fire alarm from the Hotel Dieu box this morning hose wagon No. 2, from the Central fire station collided with a westbound Boulevard car, throwing driver Bob Widman and John Sullivan to the ground, injuring Nigger, one of the fire horses seriously, and slightly bruising the leg of Teddy, the other horse of the team.

The run was being made north on Stanton and the wagon was attempting to cross Boulevard when the accident occurred. On the hose wagon were Bert Lagros, S. E. Jackson, Jess Widman and Fred Kiefer, while Sullivan sat with the driver on the front seat. None of the men were injured, although they were thrown from their places.

Nigger, the horse that was injured in the collision, is one of the two horses that the electric railway company gave to the fire department to replace the two horses that were killed in a similar accident last year on the Boulevard line. He will be unable for service for several weeks, as Dr. P. Thatcher, the veterinary surgeon, says that in addition to the injuries on the head and right front foot, he is injured internally and may never be able to run to fires again.

The alarm to which the hose wagon was responding was false.

Two Fire Alarms.

At 6:20 Wednesday evening the Mesa fire company was called out by an alarm from 904 North Oregon street, where an overheated stove had set fire to the floor. The blaze was extinguished with buckets of water and the damage was slight.
